

The Royal Ulster Rifles in Korea 1950-51: A Story of Courage and Sacrifice

The Royal Ulster Rifles (RUR) is a rifle regiment of the British Army, with a long and distinguished history. The regiment was first raised in 1793, and has served in numerous conflicts around the world, including the Boer War, the First World War, and the Second World War.

In 1950, the RUR was deployed to Korea as part of the United Nations force that was fighting to defend South Korea from a North Korean invasion. The RUR fought in several major battles during the Korean War, including the Battle of Inchon, the Battle of the Imjin River, and the Battle of Maryang-San.

The RUR acquitted themselves with great distinction during the Korean War. The regiment was awarded the United States Presidential Unit Citation for its actions at the Battle of the Imjin River, and several individual members of the regiment were awarded the Victoria Cross, the highest award for gallantry in the British armed forces.

The Royal Ulster Rifles in Korea 1950-51 is a gripping account of the regiment's experiences during the Korean War. The book is based on extensive research, including interviews with veterans of the conflict. It provides a vivid and detailed portrayal of the fighting, and the courage and sacrifice of the men of the RUR.

The Royal Ulster Rifles in Korea 1950-51 is a must-read for anyone interested in military history, the Korean War, or the history of the Royal Ulster Rifles. It is a powerful and moving story of courage, sacrifice, and comradeship.
